DESCRIPTION OF ARTWORK

Figure 1. is a visual essay on the proliferation and mediation of the “digital body” in the contemporary politics of images. It is an attempt at locating the virtual body in the processes of production, circulation, and consumption of images concerning continuing computational advancements.

Conceived in part using the state-of-the-art techniques in real-time computer graphics and machine learning, Figure 1. contemplates the affective and ethical implications of technological overreliance in the production of visual cultural artifacts. In this light, it probes the ensuing relational and sentimental shifts in the viewership of corporeality. Furthermore, it humors the public fascination with interpolative, inferential, and statistical means of generating bodily depictions.

ARTIST INFORMATION

Hirad Sab is an Iranian-American artist whose work explores the margins of digital aesthetics, internet culture, and technology. His amalgams occupy a precarious intersection of culture and the democratic nature of image circulation, an aesthetic trend that expands and mutates rapidly. Sab pursued his MFA in design media arts at UCLA and received his BS in computer science from the University of Utah. His work has been exhibited at The Wrong Biennale, Garage Museum of Contemporary Art, CHAO Art Center, and The LOW Museum of Contemporary Culture, with live visual performances at MoMA PS1 and ICA London. <https://hiradsab.com>
